

STEPHEN ROTH INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF CONTEMPORARY
ANTISEMITISM AND RACISM

ERNST AND MARIANNE PIEPER ANNUAL SEMINAR SERIES
“Between Ethnic and Racial: The Impact of Ethnic Encounters and Conflicts on Perceptions of Racism.”

Coordinator: Dr. Isaac Lubelsky (lubelsky@post.tau.ac.il)

The series deals with key questions in research on racism, such as: What are the causes of racism, both universal and local? What is the difference between racial hatred and religious hostility? Is there a hierarchy for defining degrees of genocide?

20 June 2007

“Racism and Multi-Racial Societies in South America”

Some communities in South America are characterized by a complex ethnic makeup. The discussion will focus on manifestations of racism in these communities and the intricate relations that have developed among them in relation to the question of race among different ethnicities: Indians, Creoles, ‘Coloreds’, etc.

Lecturer: Dr. Gerardo Leibner, Dept. of History, Tel Aviv University

“To Each His Indian: Patterns of Racism in the Andes”

The seminar will take place, in Hebrew, in the Gilman Building, Tel Aviv University, Room 133, 12:15–13:45.
