At its session on the 24th day of December, 2007 the Executive Council of Tel Aviv University resolved to honor

Alan Selwyn

in recognition of his dynamic public leadership role in both the Australian Jewish community and in broader Australian civic life; his dedication to developing the State of Israel that has spanned over half a century, from his initial involvement in Israeli industry, through his role in founding the Australia-Israel Chamber of Commerce and his support for numerous educational, cultural, health and welfare initiatives across Israel; and in special recognition of his standing as one of the most active and dedicated members of Tel Aviv University’s Board of Governors and its Australian Friends Association; his intensive efforts to support and raise funds for important projects on campus; and his own personal support, together with his wife, Ada, of medical research and student scholarships at the University, by conferring upon him an

HONORARY FELLOWSHIP of Tel Aviv University

Dov Lautman, Chairman, Executive Council
Professor Zvi Galil, President
