

At its session on the 22nd day of February, 2010 the Executive Council of Tel Aviv University resolved to honor

Ron Krongold

in recognition of his outstanding reputation as chemical engineer, philanthropist, public figure and Zionist; his active endeavors on behalf of the Australian Jewish community; his commitment over the past four decades to the State of Israel, including his co-leadership of Keren Hayesod Young Adults in the 1960s, and his active service as joint Vice President of the Jewish National Fund; and in special recognition of his warm longstanding friendship with Tel Aviv University, initiated by his father, Henry, who established the Henry and Dinah Krongold Chair in Micro-Electronics; his extraordinary dedication and inspirational leadership of the Melbourne chapter of the Australian Friends of Tel Aviv University for ten years; his passionate commitment both to raising financial support for the University and enabling it to make use of his wide-ranging network of personal contacts; and his wonderful generosity in supporting, together with his wife Susan, scholarships for immigrant doctoral students in microelectronics at the University, by conferring upon him an HONORARY FELLOWSHIP of Tel Aviv University

*Professor Joseph Klafter
