

Symposium in honor of Prof Ilan Golani
ON THE MORPHOGENESIS OF ANIMAL BEHAVIOR

Sunday, January 13, 2019 9:00 – 17:00

Eva and Les Erdi Educational Gallery
The Steinhardt Museum of Natural History
Tel Aviv University

- 9:00 Registration
- 9:30 Greetings
- 10:00 Ofer Tchernichovski, City University of New York, USA
Homologies between birdsong and exploratory behavior
- 10:30 Dina Lipkind, City University of New York, USA
Finding the shortest path in behavioral space
- 11:00 Coffee break
- 11:30 Ehud Fonio, Weizmann Institute of Science, Israel
Do Cheerios have consciousness?
- 12:00 Yair Wexler, Tel-Aviv University, Israel
Modularity in exploration of a 3D environment in mice
- 12:30 Tzviel Frostig, Tel-Aviv University, Israel
Exploration in the presence of mother in human infants
- 13:00 Lunch
- 14:15 Yaron Senderovicz, Tel-Aviv University, Israel
The phenomenology of behavior
- 14:45 Yakir Levin, Ben-Gurion University, Israel
The scope and limits of Ilan's purely behavioral ethological program
- 15:15 Coffee break
- 15:30 Ilan Golani, Tel-Aviv University, Israel
The mobility gradient from the perspective of evolutionary developmental biology
- 16:30 Concluding remarks, by Yoav Benjamini, Tel-Aviv University, Israel

For questions, contact: yairwex@gmail.com