Ms. Rachel Glick Zinamon, Dean of the Faculty of Humanities,
Tel Aviv University, Tel-Aviv 6997801, ISRAEL; Tel. 972-3-6409491; Fax. 972-3-6409457

We are pleased to announce an open position for a visiting professor in the field of humanities in the Faculty of Humanities at Tel Aviv University.

The position is open to candidates with a PhD in a related field. The candidate will be expected to conduct research and teach courses in both Hebrew and English.

The position will start on October 1, 2022.

We are an equal opportunity employer and welcome applications from women and men.

Applications should include a CV, a letter of interest, list of publications, and a short summary of past achievements. Three letters of recommendation should also be submitted.

Applications should be sent to:

Ms. Rachel Glick Zinamon, Dean of the Faculty of Humanities,
Tel Aviv University, Tel-Aviv 6997801, ISRAEL; Tel. 972-3-6409491; Fax. 972-3-6409457

Applications should be sent before April 30, 2022.
Call for Applications for a Tenure-track Position in the Faculty of Humanities

The Lester and Sally Entin Faculty of Humanities at Tel Aviv university invites applications for a tenure-track position in Humanities Education.

Researchers dealing with questions pertaining to teaching humanistic disciplines (including History, Philosophy, Literature, Archeology, Biblical Studies) are invited to apply for this position.

The candidate is expected to conduct academic research and supervision at the highest level, linking teaching and pedagogical aspects with one of the Humanistic subjects like History, Jewish Studies, Archeology, Cultural Studies, Philosophy and Linguistics.

The candidate will be expected to create and foster the connections between one of the humanistic disciplines and the training of teachers, in theory and in practice, in the same field. The candidate will also be required to promote collaborations in both research and teaching among the different schools of the Faculty of Humanities. The position will serve as an example for other departments and schools in the Faculty of Humanities and the university at large, in linking the academy with the field and theory with practice.

The position requires teaching courses in Hebrew and English, and the ability to carry out independent research in relevant fields. The position will be effective from either July or October 2022.

Candidates for the position must have their Ph.D degree confirmed by the time employment begins. Employment is expected to begin in the academic year of 2022/2023. The advertised job is for a tenure-track position.

Appointment procedures will be carried out according to the rules and regulations of Tel Aviv University and are subject to approval by the University authorities. The academic rank will be determined according to the candidate’s qualifications.

Applications should include a cover letter describing the candidates and their academic trajectory (maximum 2 pages), CV, list of publications, a sample of most significant publications, a brief description of the candidate’s future research project (up to one page), and 3 potential course syllabi.

Candidates who will advance to the second stage will be asked to have three letters of recommendation from senior scholars sent directly by their referees to the address below.

The Faculty of Humanities is committed to promoting diversity, understood in the broadest sense, and appoint faculty members representing a diverse and multicultural society.

The position is open to all candidates who meet the criteria outlined above. The appointment will be based on candidate’s qualifications and the needs of the Faculty of
The Faculty of Humanities and Tel Aviv University and not obligated to appoint any of the applying candidates.

The deadline for applications is April 30, 2022.

Applications should be sent to:
Professor Rachel Gali Cinamon, Dean of the Faculty of Humanities
Tel Aviv University
Ramat Aviv, Tel Aviv 6997801

Or via email: lisab@tauex.tau.ac.il